

Abstract of the Disclosure

5       Currently pre-printed signs are used for many functions and are not always appropriate or attractive. The present invention provides an electronic display with multiple pre-programmed messages. A particularly useful application is for preprogrammed messages to be displayed by a hotel guest on the corridor side of the hotel room door.